

Important Toolbar Reinstatement Commentary

OurGV.Com would like to thank you for your passionate enthusiasm to help non-profit organizations around the world with our powerful internet search toolbar. Unfortunately, sometimes our enthusiasm to support non-profits crosses the line and instead of searching the internet like we normally would, we start changing the way we search the internet in order to raise or make money from clicks.

In recognition of this overwhelming enthusiasm Yahoo has had to put into place very sophisticated software technologies that analyze the internet searching taking place. Each day, we receive a report from the toolbar company that summarizes yahoo's data for toolbar activity. While much of the report shares exciting news, the report also includes a list of toolbars that have violated our toolbar guidelines and now have searching and/or clicking issues. Most of these violations tend to be very obvious. Depending on the severity of the issues, toolbars either have the search removed, or are terminated. In both cases the form below is used to request having search turned back on or to potentially have a new toolbar issued if necessary.

The toolbar guidelines located near the bottom of the OurGV.Com homepage or by CLICKING HERE are designed to help us avoid reaching this stage. If only your search was turned off, then this form will help us turn it back on ONCE, if your toolbar has been terminated, with this form we will do our best to get you issued a new one that includes search one more time. Everyone must understand if their toolbar is terminated again, their next toolbar will not include the search portion and will only be able to be used for communication and shopping.

The amount of time it will take to review and file your acknowledgement form, and if approved to re-issue a new toolbar or turn search back on will vary. As we all must realize, re-issuing a toolbar to someone who has already violated the toolbar guidelines will always be secondary to getting a new person, organization, or business their first one. The most important thing is to make sure that you do not have trouble again. Please let us know if you have any questions about the toolbar guidelines. Our goal is to help you to benefit from the toolbar program long-term!
